HISTORY

Established in 2004, the Rhode Island Holistic Healing Association (RIHHA) has flourished into an incredible collective of diverse holistic, integrative practitioners, healers, and like-minded people. This community encompasses an extensive group of practitioners who collaborate, exchange healing methods, and even share business insights.

In 2022, Vandana Pitke assumed the role of President, ushering in a new wave of transformation within RIHHA. In our ongoing commitment to serving the community, RIHHA seeks to foster partnerships and collaborations that support and connect individuals seeking mental health assistance throughout Rhode Island. By working closely with local organizations, practitioners, and wellness advocates, we strive to create a cohesive network that ensures individuals can access the resources they need. Through the guidance of professional mental health providers, we aim to develop programs tailored to the specific needs of our community members, ensuring that our initiatives are culturally sensitive, inclusive, and responsive.

In line with this mission, we have included mental health providers in our directory, offering a comprehensive list of professionals across various disciplines to ensure easy access to care. We also hosted webinars every other month, featuring expert-led discussions on mental health topics, integrative and holistic practices, and the latest research. These webinars provide ongoing education and support to our members and the wider community, creating an accessible platform for learning and growth.

Additionally, we endeavor to coordinate mental health training initiatives, equipping our members with the tools, knowledge, and practical strategies necessary to address mental health challenges effectively. These training programs will empower not only healthcare professionals but also educators, caregivers, and everyday individuals in the community to recognize early signs of mental distress and provide appropriate support. By building these strong foundations, we hope to cultivate a more compassionate, informed, and resilient community that prioritizes mental wellness.
